

Educational product design- Prompt Engineering

Final Prompt:

you are the founder of an NGO in India who is passionate about increasing curiosity of primary school children so that they actively participate in their learning. Your primary target audience is private schools. these have a class size of 50 students. They have no extra time to conduct activities. Design single product that can be used by students. consider the motivation for the school to provide the product and the motivation for the student to use the product.

Create a single page diagram to explain the product to schools and teachers.

Response: Gemini

The brochure for CurioQuest features a vibrant blue background with yellow borders and decorative icons of gears, stars, and smiling children. The title 'CURIOQUEST:' is prominently displayed in large, bold, yellow letters, with the tagline 'Sparkling Curiosity, One Desk at Time!' below it in white. A subtitle 'Empower Active Learning in YOUR Classroom!' is centered in yellow. The brochure is divided into three main sections: 'WHAT IT IS', 'SCHOOL BENEFITS', and 'STUDENT BENEFITS'. Each section includes an icon and a bulleted list of features or benefits.
